ARMY MULTI UTILITY OVER VEST

The Army multi utility over vest EXP-AMUOV20Q is designed to provide superior protection for combat troops operating in tough and tactical environments. Constructed with advanced EXPLL technology, the vest is one of the lightest and most comfortable available in the market today.

The design of the vest is ergonomically designed to provide freedom of movement and superior agility without compromising on protection. With standard webbing on the front and back, it allows for the attachment of pouches and other gear needed for mission-critical operations. The detachable hood and drawstring waist allows for a more customized fit.

The over vest provides superior protection against a wide array of threats, ranging from ballistic, chemical, and thermal. It offers the highest level of protection against ballistic threats while remaining lightweight and comfortable. The over vest also features advanced materials and designs that provide superior protection against chemical and thermal threats.

The EXPLL technologies used in the construction of the over vest provide superior protection and durability. These technologies are designed to work together to provide superior protection against a wide range of threats.
